

Veterinary Nursing Selection Process – 2023 entry

The RVC receives in excess of 600 applications each year for approximately 65 places on our D310 and D313 courses. We are committed to selecting our students using fair and transparent processes. As the majority of our applicants meet or exceed our academic entry requirements, we have developed selection methods which we believe enable us to recruit the students most suited to our degree programme.

All applications for 2023 entry must be submitted through UCAS by 25 January 2023. Late applications will not be considered. Emails confirming receipt of applications will be sent to all applicants via the Admissions Office. The email receipt will contain information about how to complete our supplementary work experience form and provide a deadline to return this. We are unable to guarantee that forms received after the deadline will be considered. The RVC may request further information from applicants at any stage during the process. Failure to respond to such requests, by the deadline given, may result in the application being made unsuccessful.

Applications are considered in the following stages:

1. Supplementary questionnaire

Applications are initially screened to see whether the applicant has completed and submitted our supplementary questionnaire by the provided deadline. Applicants who do not return their questionnaire will not progress any further. Our unsuccessful decision will be processed through UCAS and the applicant notified, in due course.

2. Work Experience criteria

Applicants who have submitted their supplementary form are then screened against our published work experience criteria (note for this year they will be screened against our COVID-19 revised criteria). Any applicant who has not completed the minimum requirement will not progress any further. Our unsuccessful decision will be processed through UCAS and the applicant notified, in due course.

3. Academic criteria

Applications are then screened and scored according to whether or not they meet our published minimum entry requirements, as detailed on our website. Applications that miss our entry requirements by one grade are not necessarily excluded at this point but they will score less than those who meet our requirements and therefore will be at a disadvantage. Any applications that fail to meet our entry requirements by more than one grade will not progress any further. Please note we also look at whether applicants are taking the published required units for BTECs and Extended Diplomas etc and applications may not progress if required units are missing. Our unsuccessful decision will be processed through UCAS and the applicant notified, in due course.

4. Application assessment

Applications are screened and assessed by our trained Admissions Officers, who consider each applicants personal statement on UCAS. Our assessors are looking for:

- Insight, understanding and motivation specifically towards the veterinary nursing course/profession/College
- Interest and commitment to the veterinary nursing course/profession/College
- Skills and characteristics that demonstrate suitability for the veterinary nursing course/profession/College
- Written standard

The applicant's personal statement will be assessed on the above criteria. The assessors will only consider the information as provided on their application, to ensure parity and fairness.

5. Interview selection

The RVC does not make any offers on its Veterinary Nursing degrees without interview.

Interviews are normally held in the UK in January and February. Interviews are not allocated in any order of preference. Where an applicant has applied to both the Veterinary Nursing degrees, they will only be required to interview once and their performance will be considered for both courses.

Applicants are selected for interview following assessment, based on the process detailed above.

Interviews follow a multi-mini interview (MMI) format. The interviews are designed to test different attributes and characteristics at each station and are intended to test applicant's non-academic attributes and suitability for the course. Applicants are scored against the attributes/characteristics being tested at each station as well as in an observed group setting, enabling a total score to be determined. The scores from each interview section are then added together to form a total score. Scores from the pre-interview assessment are not carried forward but may be considered in the event we need to differentiate between candidates with the same interview score.

Further details will be provided to successful applicants in their interview invitation.

6. Post-interview

The process of offer making to applicants will start in February, although most applicants can expect to hear from us in early to mid-March. Offer making is a gradual process and therefore applicants should refrain from drawing conclusions from the fact they have not heard but others have. Applicants will receive an email offer from the RVC which will outline any terms of their offer, their fee status and provide other important information about the next steps they need to take. An update will also be made via UCAS Track.

7. Results and Clearing

For applicants who are taking A-levels, UCAS track will be updated on results day with a decision as to whether or not they have been accepted onto the course. For those who are taking another qualification, a decision will be made upon receipt of evidence that conditions have been fulfilled (to be provided by the applicant).

Only applicants who meet the full terms of their offer are guaranteed to be accepted; applicants who narrowly miss their results may be accepted on occasion, should a vacancy occur, but this is by exception rather than the norm. The RVC can offer no guarantees this will happen in any given year and cannot guarantee that any applicants who do not meet the full terms of their offer will be accepted onto the course.

Decisions will be sent to UCAS following receipt of results, consideration of the applicant's grade profile and vacancies on the course. This decision is final and therefore applicants who are unsuccessful should refrain from calling the Admissions Office unless their grades subsequently change due to a remark. Applicants who are successful will receive email confirmation of this and do not need to contact the Admissions Office for further verification.

The RVC's Veterinary Nursing courses do not enter Clearing.
